FUNERAL OF CHAS. BASSETT

Body of Young Man Interred In Riverside Cemetery Yesterday.

The funeral services of Charles Thompson Bassett, who died Tuesday in Austwell, Tex., were held at the home of Col. E. B. Bassett yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Dr. C. M. Thompson, pastor of the First Baptist church, of which the young man was a member, conducted the ceremonies.

The interment took place at Riverside cemetery in the Thompson lot. Former classmates who had been closely connected with him acted as pall bearers.

Charles was an unusually attractive and popular boy and had many friends here. He was the oldest son of Dr. and Mrs. F. H. Bassett, who lived in this city until last winter, when they moved to Texas.

NEW CASES ARE TRIED

Circuit Court Has Made Good Progress on Criminal Docket.

INJUNCTION CASE MONDAY.

Cayce-Puckett Case Ends In Fine of $50 For E. C. Cayce.

Considerable interest centers in the argument set for next Monday of the injunction suit filed by Tandy & Fairleigh and other tobacco prize dealers, against the license tax ordinance passed by the city council last December and passed again in April for the fiscal year beginning May 1. Especial objection is made in this suit to the fixing of 25c per hoghead tax on tobacco after it has been prized. The plaintiffs claim the ordinance is invalid and inequitable, and they seek to have it so declared by the court, and the city officials enjoined from collecting the taxes under it.

E. C. Cayce was placed on trial Wednesday for assaulting S. C. Puckett with a buggy whip and a verdict was reached Thursday and defendant fined $50.

The court gave peremptory instruction as to his guilt, the jury only fixing the amount. Mr. Puckett while riding a motorcycle collided with Mr. Cayce's buggy and the latter got out of his buggy and struck Mr. Puckett about twenty times with his whip. Mr. Puckett, made no resistance, but prosecuted the case and secured the indictment for assault. There is also talk of a civil suit for damages.

CROWD MAY GO ON SPECIAL

Meeting Held at H. B. M. A. Rooms at Three O'clock.

Another Bee Line Highway meeting was held yesterday at 3 o'clock at the request of a number of the delegates from Pembroke, Trenton, and Guthrie, who will attend the Evansville meeting next Thursday. They arrived in automobiles and came to discuss the trip to Evansville and the prospects for a delegation large enough to justify a special train. The L. & L. Railroad offers to furnish a special train if as many as 100 go. Enthusiasm is on the increase and it looks like fully that many will go from the towns along the road in this vicinity.

President Cooper is adding to the list of Hopkinsville people all who will let him know that they wish to attend as delegates. There is no limit to the delegation. If 50 or more go, it will be all the better.

There have been 91 deaths since the lodge was instituted nearly 40 years ago. During 1915 there have been five as follows: L. W. Henderson, T. D. Roberts, S. R. Stewart, O. D. Thompson and G. B. Underwood.

The membership will assemble at the Lodge Room at 10:30 o'clock and go in a body to the church.

Academy of Medicine.

The Academy of Medicine met in regular session Monday night, with the following physicians present: Drs. Bell, Stephens, Held, Lackey, Rozzell, Rudd, Erkiletian, Harned, Rice, Grace, Stone, Thomas, Sargent, Southall and Stroube. "Artificial feeding," by Dr. Grace, was the subject. The society meets every Monday night at 8 o'clock. At the next meeting Dr. Stone will discuss "Incipient Tuberculosis." This subject is of great importance to the profession, as it is only in the incipient case that much good may be accomplished. A large attendance is desired.

SHOOTING CONTESTS

Rifle Matches To Be Held On Earlington Range Sept. 23 to 30.

SEVERAL PRIZES OFFERED.

Members of Company D. Will Be Strong Bidders For Place On Rifle Team.

Madisonville, Ky., June 18.—Adj. Gen. James Tandy Ellis, of Frankfort, has issued an order fixing Earlington, September 23 to 30 as the place and time for holding the state matches between members of the Kentucky National Guard.

Two days' preliminary team practice is allowed, to be followed by the company team match, the governor's match, the regimental team match, and the state team competition.

The company team match is open to teams of five men each. In this competition a prize of $100 in cash is offered, and to each member of the winning team a bronze medal will be given. The second prize is $75 in cash, the third $50, the fourth $25 and the fifth $10.

The governor's match is an individual match opened to all officers and men of the medical department. The following prizes are offered in this contest: First prize, gold medal valued at $25 and 60 per cent of the receipts from entrance fees; second prize, 25 per cent of the receipts from entrance fees and third prize, 15 per cent of the receipts from entrance fees.

The regimental team match is composed of six officers and men in each regiment making the highest aggregate scores in the company team match and the governor's match. The prize offered in this competition is the regimental team trophy, now held by the Second infantry. The trophy remains in the possession of the Colonel of the winning regiment until the succeeding state competition.

For the purpose of securing a team to represent the state at the national rifle matches at Jacksonville, Fla., in October, the thirty competitors making the highest aggregate individual scores in the company team match, the governor's match and the scores fired will be retained in the camp at Earlington at the conclusion of the regimental team match to contest for membership on the state team.

The practice period for the state team will commence immediately after the team has been selected, and will continue until October 12. The "Williams Medal" will be presented to the member of the state team making the highest aggregate score in the national team match. This medal is presented by Brig.-Gen. Roger D. Williams.

Still Another Bee Line Route Is Proposed By Other Business Men.

W. D. Carvell and three other business men of Allensville motored to this city Thursday and conferred with local business men on still another Bee Line route to Nashville. They favor a route from here to Elkton, thence to Allensville, Keokuk and to a junction with the Russellville line at Barren Plains, near Springfield, Tenn. Such a route would need 9 miles of road beyond Elkton to give it a pike all the way to Springfield. They learned that Hopkinsville business men had committed themselves to the Guthrie route.

HALT ATTACKS ON AMERICANS

Admiral Howard Has Authority to Land Force in Mexico and Stop Indians.

YAQUIS THREATEN TROUBLE.

U. S. Marines Ready to Rush to Aid of Citizens If in Any Danger.

San Diego, Cal., June 18.—Peril of American settlers in the Yaqui valley brought orders Monday for the dispatch of three cruisers for Mexican west coast and authorization to Admiral Thomas B. Howard to land an expeditionary force if he thinks best.

The flagship Colorado sailed first, carrying three companies of marines. Somewhere off the coast of lower California the radio began snapping back orders from the admiral, which started the protected cruiser Chattanooga after the Colorado. The protected cruiser Raleigh, also ordered to sail, began getting up steam and was expected to get away in the night.

All three were destined for Tobari bay, near Guaymas, railroad terminus and seaport in Sonora. Ninety miles southwest of Guaymas is Esperanza, where an American colony which has successfully resisted attacks of Yaqui Indians, is reported to be again in danger.

The Indians, who have declared their independence, seek to oust settlers from land which is said to have been taken from the Yaquis, under the administration of Porfirio Diaz. They were reported today to have withdrawn to the mountains.

The three cruisers have available for landing purposes 1,100 officers and men besides the marines.

MANDATE AWAITED

In The Reversal of The Case of Captain E. W. Clark.

Judge Turner rendered the decision in the Court of Appeals reversing the E. W. Clark case.

From a moral standpoint," said the court, "nothing is to be said in extenuation of appellant's conduct; but an indispensable element in his guilt is that the girl, Alberta Mitchell, must have been at the time under 16 years of age. We have reluctantly come to the conclusion, after analysis of the evidence, that it was not sufficient on this vital point.

"Numerous instances and occurrences shown by the record point almost unerringly to the existence of such relations between them during the period named."

The testimony of the girl's mother as to the time she was born made her a year younger than the record of the family Bible and her age as given to the census enumerator for several years.

The Court of Appeals was to adjourn yesterday for the summer and was expected to issue the mandate in the case before adjournment. When the mandate is received here, Capt. Clark can execute bond and be at liberty until another trial. The Mitchell family has moved to Georgia, except one of the boys.

Co. D. Lost.

"Co. D." lost to Earl Stone's Sensibles at Madisonville Wednesday by a score of 7 to 0. The Madisonville bunch are nearly all old professionals and the team has on it such men as Artie Cummins, Pacey George Hancock, "Red" Hodge, Scott Means and "Shorty" Johnson. "Co. D." showed that it had some good timber, that could be developed and it was largely through of lack practice that the game was lost.

RUSSIANS IN RETREAT

Invasion of Czar's Territory at New Point Follows Victorious Advance.

THREE BIG ARMIES CLOSE IN

French Report Ferocious Attacks and Counter Attacks Along Front.

London, June 18.—Another twenty-fours of fighting in Galicia has developed nothing to stem the Austro-German advance toward Lemberg, and tonight Berlin claims the Russians are retreating over their own frontier toward Tarnograd, four miles from the Galicia border.

This means an invasion of Russian territory at a new point, but, according to military observers here, it may spell ultimate advantage for the Russians, in that a general Russian retirement northward into Poland would divert General Linsingen's attempt to crush the Russian center near Zurawna, which would sever the communications of the Russian army in southeastern Galicia and Bukovina. The military writers here say the real danger zone from the Russian standpoint is in the Zurawna district along the Dniester.

According to Berlin, the Austro-German forces have battered through Niemerow, thirty miles northwest of Lemberg, and are advancing toward Jaworow, which is only twenty-five miles west of the Galician capital. Three great masses of Austro-Germans are thus sweeping from the San toward the capital, and the prediction is made that the decisive battle, if one is fought, will take place in the vicinity of Crokek, where military observers believe the Russians should benefit by the lake country. British newspapers though not minimizing the importance of the Austro-German successes in Galicia, acclaim what is styled the Grand Duke Nicholas' "defensive strategy in shifting his front north and south to northwest and southeast. This maneuver," it is asserted, "has deflected the Austro-Germans to blow to some extent," and at the same time denied to them a full test of strength.

Thus the Russian retreat is characterized in London as strikingly paralleling the allies' victory on the Marne. The struggle along the Dniester and before Lemberg, it is considered here, must determine which side is the most astute in the present maneuvers.

A Rotterdam dispatch to the Exchange Telegraph company reports that the damage done at Karlsruhe by the air raid of the French squadron of aeroplanes was much greater than the papers were allowed to state. "Two hundred persons were killed," says the correspondent. "Fifty bombs were dropped, one of them also destroying one of the ducal palaces used as headquarters by the Karlsruhe commandant. Others destroyed a number of factories engaged in manufacturing shells. A great panic was caused and the victims will be buried secretly at night."

Eli Head, twenty-five years old, a negro chauffeur, was taken to the Dawson, Ky., jail Tuesday night and whipped by masked men. Head says there were about twelve men in the crowd. The negro is employed by William Lynch, a banker, and it is alleged that he is reckless in driving the car.

Julius Babey, who shot and instantly killed his young wife, Agnes Babey, at their home in Louisville, April 23, was found guilty of murder in the criminal court. The jury after deliberating thirty-eight minutes, fixed his punishment at death. The defendant pleaded insanity. Babey is 24 years old.

Let me hold your baby, madam, while you look after the other children. I have four seats for you right up in front, where it is cool. . . . If you will wait just a second, sir, I will come right back to help you with your baggage. Here is a dollar bill I think you must have dropped, sir. Don't thank me, sir; it is no more than my duty, and I am happy to restore it to you. . . . And now, if you are all settled and comfortable, I will start the train with your permission."—Town Topics.

Just Like a Boy.

The teacher was having an interesting half hour with the children, asking them questions, anyone having the privilege to answer. It was a great time to show off. The teacher asked about various things, and one question was about locusts. Several hands were raised, and finally one boy was selected to speak. "A locust is a bug that gives people tuberculosis," was his answer.

Weather Man.

There is no "thoroughly reliable weather man." The government "forecasts" are fairly safe for a certain number of hours, but as for the predictions that include the entire year, or any considerable part of it, they are not worth the paper they are printed on. They may be all right, they may be all wrong. Nobody knows which.

FARM STOCK

KEEP FLIES FROM ANIMALS

Tar Often Can Be Used to Advantage in Protecting Sore Places From Irritating Insects.

(By G. H. GLOVER, Colorado Experiment Station.)

There is probably nothing that will keep flies away from live stock to the extent that they will not be more or less irritated by them.

Most of the coal tar products used for "dips" to kill external parasites are useful when used over the body, well diluted, and applied from a spray pump. Oil of tar or pine tar can often be used to advantage in protecting places that have become sore from the irritation of flies.

The following mixture has usually given as much satisfaction as any other: Synthetic oil of sassafras, four ounces; karo or neat's-foot oil, two pints, and crude petroleum enough to make one gallon. This will cost about $1 a gallon.

This mixture should not be expensive and will not need to be applied as often as the other: Fish oil, 100 parts; oil of tar, 50 parts, and crude carbolic acid, 1 part.

The best way to "swat the fly" is before he is born. Allowing piles of manure to accumulate in the stables and yards for flies to breed in and then applying some kind of "dope" to keep flies away from the animals is inconsistent, to say the least.

MAKE PROFIT WITH FEEDERS

Animal Should Have Beef Characteristics, a Wide, Strong Back, and Large Heart Girth.

(By JOHN L. TORNEY, Wisconsin Experiment Station.)

Steers, if they are to make profitable gains in the feed lot, must have beef characteristics, a wide, strong back and a large heart girth.

They must have a strong frame and plenty of room for the vital organs, for an animal with a weak constitution cannot hold up through the feeding season.

A wide head and muzzle usually indicates good feeding qualities.

Short legs, heavy hind quarters and arched ribs are essential in the feeding animal.

The skin should be reasonably thick, soft and covered by a heavy coat of hair.

The animal should have a straight back and low-set appearance, due to the depth of the body and short legs.

The Game Is Not for Man Alone.

The intelligence that appears to pervade the organic world and that reaches its conscious expression in the brain of man is just as manifest in all the forms of animals and plants that are inimical to him—in all his natural enemies—venomous snakes and beasts of prey, and insect pests—as in anything else. Nature is as wise and solicitous for rats and mice as for men. In fact, she has endowed many of the lower creatures with physical powers that she has denied him. Evidently man is only one of the cards in her pack, doubtless the highest one, but the game is not played for him alone.—John Burroughs, in North American Review.

China's national hymn is said to be so long that it requires about half a day to sing it.

How to "Break In" Book.

The proper way to "break in" a book is to lay it on its back on a table, and then open but a few leaves at a time, alternately at the front and at the back, until you reach the middle of the volume. Some readers have the bad habit of keeping their place by opening the book until the covers meet, and then laying it down, still open. Limp leather bound volumes will stand such treatment, but those bound in boards will not. Almost as bad is the trick of keeping your place by putting between the leaves some bulky object.

NOTICE OF DISSOLUTION

Following the death of J. R. Hawkins, the firm of J. R. Hawkins & Co., has entered into dissolution, the junior member of the firm, Ned Turner, taking over the entire business, which will be run at the same old stand and from which it has done business for the past thirty-eight years, and under the same firm name of J. R. Hawkins & Co.

Persons indebted to the old firm are requested to call and make settlement of the same, as the business must be closed at the earliest possible moment.

I cannot let this opportunity pass without expressing in behalf of the firm of J. R. Hawkins & Co., the old and the new, our profound gratitude for the consideration and support accorded us by the public of Hopkinsville, and I am taking the liberty of speaking for ourselves the same liberal consideration in the future, assuring our customers that we shall adhere to the same fair dealing and prompt service that has characterized our conduct of the business for thirty-eight years.

Very respectfully
J. R. HAWKINS & Co.

Cut It Out.

A good theatrical story was told by Jerome K. Jerome at a London club dinner to dramatic authors. "I spoke to an eminent producer not long ago," he said, "about a play a young friend of mine had sent to him. He remembered it. 'Ah, yes,' he said. 'Not at all bad. There's an idea in it.' Later on it was produced, and after the show I went behind. 'Well,' said the eminent producer, 'what did you think of it?' 'Oh, all right,' I said. 'It seems all correct. But what about the idea?' He didn't seem to understand. 'The idea,' I reminded him; 'you said there was an idea in it.' He remembered then. 'Ah, yes,' he said. 'Yes. We had to cut that out.'"

No "Fixed Star."

The phrase "fixed star" is a misnomer. There is no such thing. All the millions of stars one sees in the vault of the sky, and millions, vastly more millions, revealed by telescope and photography, with undoubted uncountable other millions of millions, billions of billions, in the universes of the infinite beyond, have their movements, whether in groups or whether by single suns each, with its retinue of sun and its few known planets.

BANKERS URGED TO CO-OPERATE WITH FARMERS

SOUL MATERIAL HAS ENTERED THE BANK VAULTS OF THE NATION.

The Bank a Financial Power House to the Community.

By Peter Radford.

One of the greatest opportunities in the business life of the nation lies in practical co-operation of the country banks with the farmer in building agriculture and the adventure is laden with greater possibilities than any forward movement now before the American public.

A few bankers have loaned money to farmers at a low rate of interest, and oftentimes without compensation, to buy blooded livestock, build silos, fertilize the land, secure better seed, hold their products for a better market price, etc. The banker in contributing toward improving the grade of livestock, the quality of the seed and the fertility of the soil, plants in the agricultural life of the community a fountain of profit, that, like Tennyson's brook, runs on and on forever.

The time was when money loaned on such a basis would severely test the sanity of the banker; such transactions would pain the directors like a blow in the face. A cashier who would dare to cast bread upon waters that did not return buttered side up in time for annual dividends would have to give way to a more capable man. This does not necessarily mean that the bankers are getting any better or that the milk of human kindness is being imbibed more freely by our financiers. It indicates that the bankers are getting wiser, becoming more able financiers and the banking industry more competent. The vision of the builder is crowding out the spirit of the pawnbroker. A light has been turned on a new world of investment and no usurer ever received as large returns on the investment as these progressive bankers, who made loans to uplift industry. The bankers have always been liberal city builders, but they are now building agriculture.

A Dollar With a Soul.
It is refreshing in this strenuous commercial life to find so many dollar souls. When a dollar is applied to perform a task that does produce the highest rate of interest, we usually hear the rustle of the eagle's wings as it soars upward; when a dollar is requested to return at the option of the borrower, it usually appeals to the rights; Liberty for its contractors, and in when a dollar is asked to enter into the vaults of our bank and rate, time and volume have a new basis of reckoning in so far as the ability of some of the bankers permit them to co-operate in promoting the business of farming.

God Almighty's Noblemen.
These bankers are God Almighty's noblemen. Heaven lent earth the spirit of these men and the angels will help them roll in place the cornerstones of empires. They are not philanthropists; they are wise bankers. The spirit of the builder has given them a new vision, and wisdom has visited upon them business foresight.

The cackle of the hen, the low of kine and the rustle of growing crops echo in every bank vault in the nation and the shrewd banker knows that he can more effectively increase his deposits by putting blue blood in the veins of livestock; quality in the yield of the soil and value into agricultural products, than by business handshakes, overdrafts and gaudy cashed.

Taking the community into partnership with the bank, opening up a ledger account with progress, making the bank and enterprise stockholders and the prosperity of the country an asset to the bank, put behind it stability far more desirable than the distasteful bearing the names of all the disgraced citizens of the community. The bank is the financial power house of the community and blessed is the locality that has an up-to-date banker.

POLITICAL PRAYER MEETINGS

It is a sad day for Christianity when the church bells call for prayer meetings for a political party. Such gatherings mark the high tide of religious political fanaticism, put bitterness into the hearts of men; and the flames of class hatreds; and destroy Christian influence in the community. The spirit animating such meetings is anarchistic, un-Christian and dangerous to both church and state.

The success of the nation is in the hands of the farmer.

Work for the best and the best will rise up and reward you.

Tenant farming is just one thing after another without a pay day.

Four splendid cloth volumes, full of portraits, sketches, maps, diagrams

Today is the climax of a hundred years of preparation. Read in this timely, authoritative, complete, AND THE ONLY CONDENSED classic world history—of which over 2,000,000 copies have been sold in France—taken place in the inner councils of Europe during the past one hundred years. Read in these entrancing pages how Russia has for years craftily been trying to escape from her darkness to get a year-round open port, with its economic freedom. Read how Germany and Austria, fearful of the monster's latent strength, have been trying to checkmate her and how they have pinned all in this last, supreme stake.

The Lesson of the Past

THIS master of the pen shows you the glory that was Greece's and the grandeur that was Rome's. He guides you through the Middle Ages, the picturesque old days of feudalism and the crusades; through the Renaissance in brilliant manner. In the story of the past lie the secrets of today. And you will understand them better when you get the Review of Reviews for a year—for the Review of Reviews will give you a new interpretation of the events that are taking place with such rapidity. It is not enough to read the daily news reports. Your ability to comprehend conditions, and to discuss them rationally depends on a true interpretation of the meaning and the "reason why" of events. In your mind you must bring order out of chaos—and the Review of Reviews will do it for you.

RUSSIANS ARE FACING NEARLY 2,800,000 FOES

Austro-German Forces in East Put at 71 Army Corps.

London, June 16.—Reuter's Petrograd correspondent says the Russian military critics estimate the total Austro-German forces operating against the Russians as not less than forty-five German and twenty-six Austrian army corps (about 2,800,000 men.) It is asserted fourteen or fifteen German army corps (560,000 to 600,000 men) are operating on the Lubaczowka-Wieszania front in Galicia, in addition to the Austrian troops, while it is believed probable that the Germans have seven corps (280,000 men) in the Baltic provinces.

Tell Her So.

Amid the cares of married life,
In spite of toil and business strife,
If you value your sweet wife,
Tell her so.

Prove to her you don't forget
The bond to which the seal is set;
She's of life's sweets, the sweetest
yet—
Tell her so.

When days are dark and deep y blue,
She has her troubles same as you;
Show her that your love is true—
Tell her so.

There was a time you thought it bliss
To get the favor of one kiss.
A dozen now won't come a miss—
Tell her so.

Your love for her is no mistake,
You feel it, dreaming or awake.
Don't conceal it—for her sake,
Tell her so.

Don't act, if she has passed her prime,
As though to please her were a crime;
If e'er you loved her, now's the time—
Tell her so.

She'll return for each caress,
A hundredfold of tenderness.
Hearts like hers were made to bless,
Tell her so.

You are hers and hers alone.
Well, you know she's all your own.
Don't wait to "carve it on a stone"—
Tell her so.

Never let her heart grow cold,
Richer beauties will unfold,
She is worth her weight in gold—
Tell her so.

WARD DOUGLAS.

Last Summer Meeting.

The Athenaeum held the last meeting of the summer at Hotel Latham last night with two good papers. Mr. T. J. McReynolds wrote entertainingly on "James Whitcomb Riley" and Dr. C. M. Thompson's subject was "Mrs. Eddy and Christian Science."

O Perfect Love.

Divorce as well as marriage has its little ironies. A society woman, who has just instituted proceedings for release from the double yoke, was discussing her case with a friend. "I don't think I know this lawyer who is going to represent you," observed the visitor, running over the name in her mind. "Oh, you must know him," returned the hostess, with animation. "Don't you remember the good-looking fellow who sang 'O Perfect Love' at my wedding?"

Condition Less Critically.

Mr. E. M. Jones' condition was less critical yesterday afternoon and he was resting well. An operation has not yet been performed for gall stones.

BEE LINE ROAD MEET

Mayor Bosse Sets Convention Date to Form Permanent Highway Association.

Evansville, June 18.—The Dixie Bee Line Highway convention will be called to order here next Thursday, June 24, by Mayor Bosse in the ball room of the Vendome hotel. This announcement was made by the mayor, chairman of the committee in charge of the preliminary work, following a telephone conference with William Vollmer of Vincennes, who has taken charge of the organization work north of his home.

The convention will be an all-day affair, the morning session opening at 10 o'clock and an afternoon session taking place at 2 o'clock. Letters inviting all counties through which the road will pass to send delegates to the convention will be sent out immediately and from 200 to 300 are expected to assemble here for the big meeting.

A permanent Dixie Bee Line highway organization will be formed at the meeting and a commission to select the route from Danville, Ill., to Nashville will be elected.

Every county interested will be called upon to give a report of its workings at the meeting and each county will be expected to have at least one representative and as many more as possible present.

The county representative will be asked to make a report on what has been done with regard to the highway route and what they are willing to do to assist in the work of establishing the road.

Secretary J. C. Keller of the E. B. A. yesterday received the names of delegates that have been appointed from Clay and Earlington, Ky.

That large and spirited delegations will be present from every city along the tentative route, has been assured by letters to Mayor Bosse and Secretary Keller. Local associations have already been formed at several Kentucky places and enthusiasts as far north as Terre Haute are planning to attend.

Popular Mechanics Magazine

The great European war, with its tragic development of the past six weeks, furnishes subject matter for a number of unusually interesting articles in the July Popular Magazine. The use of poison gas and liquid fire as weapons of attack, destruction, and defense by erstwhile civilized peoples overthrows all preconceived ideas of the ethics of warfare, taxes the imagination, and causes apprehension as to the future. The monstrosity that deals out death by these barbaric means is grimly depicted in the cover design of the magazine, while an illustrated article describes the practice of shooting gas and fire and shows what protective measures armies are employing. The world's greatest sea tragedy, the sinking of the "Lusitania" is discussed not merely in its relations to the war, but also in its bearing upon ship construction—for the "Lusitania" was one of the most modern products of the shipbuilding industry, and supposedly unsinkable. Many unusual pictures accompany this article, among them a double-page drawing of the sinking of the vessel.

G. M. Craig of Anding, Miss., thinks he has discovered a boll weevil remedy.

FOR BETTER ROADS

BENEFITS FROM GOOD ROADS

Increase Value of Every Acre of Land
Adjoining—Correct Principles
Being Followed.

Slowly but surely farmers are everywhere coming to the realization that good roads increase the value of every acre adjoining or in proximity to them, and that the best of land will be hard to sell if it can be reached only through heavy, muddy roads the greater portion of the year. In so far as our section (northern Indiana) is concerned, the progress in making good roads has been quite marked during the last five years, says a writer in Farmers' Review. As soon as it was announced that the Lincoln highway would have its course through our section, the value of farms lying along and near this course increased to quite a degree, in some instances as much as 25 per cent.

It is really astonishing how foolishly the methods of road making were formerly carried on. Farmers had fallen into a habit of working on the roads in a very different way from what they worked on their own farms. It often looked as if some feared they might do more work than their neighbors—hence they were determined to do less. Sometimes, in fact nearly always, the most incompetent man in the district was chosen supervisor, and he often had great difficulty in prevailing upon the farmers to do enough work to enable him to make proper returns to the commissioners.

Another matter quite noticeable in those days was that in making roads, all principles of good road making were as a rule violated. No effort was made to drain the roadway. It was simply thrown up a little higher than the road sides so that when the heavy rains came the water, instead of running off, would settle into the depressions made by the wagon wheels and remain there until slowly evaporated. The ruts in the meantime growing deeper and deeper. The farmers themselves despised the roads heartily.

As to materials for road making, it was the almost universal rule to take that most convenient. If it happened to be good gravel, well and good, but if, as in a large majority of cases, it happened to be sand, it was used just the same.

But in these days such roads will no longer be tolerated. We have in northern Indiana any number of good gravel beds and from these gravel is drawn and spread upon the roadbed to a good depth. In the course of a short time it is possible with such good material, and a knowledge of how to make roads, to have a hard, smooth highway that is a credit to the district and a delight to the traveler. Even in sections where gravel cannot be found naturally, it has been found a paying proposition in many ways to get it shipped in by rail.

In Ute Pass, Near Manitou, Colo.

California Improving Roads.
The seven counties comprising southern California will spend $7,000,000 this year in road construction. The schedule includes 324 miles of concrete boulevard, 160 miles of decomposed granite boulevard and 290 miles of desert highway.

Los Angeles county, which already claims the finest highway system in the country, will spend nearly half of the total named. It already has 494 miles of asphalt highways.

Encouraging Thrifty Growth.
Transplanting of cabbage, tomato and other plants encourages a thrifty growth of root and stem. Neglect transplanting and when ready to put in the garden the plants will be spindling and weak and may not survive.

Growing Radishes.
Radishes should be grown quickly and pulled at the proper time. They soon become hard and woody. The best plan with radishes is to sow a short row every week until it is too late in the season to sow them.

VISITING DOCTOR

Writes a Letter to Dr. Bell and Praises The Jennie Stuart
Memorial Hospital

Dr. Austin Bell
Hopkinsville, Ky.

Dear Dr. Bell:—

Having just reached home, from a most delightful day with your County Society, I take the very earliest opportunity to extend to you my thanks for personal courtesies, and to the "Managers of The Jennie Stuart Memorial Hospital" for an opportunity to make an inspection of your splendid institution. I had heard much of its beauty, sanitary perfection and adaptability to the needs of the sick and suffering. In every respect, it far exceeded my expectations. Your citizenship, and especially the physicians of your city and county, should feel a special gratitude to Dr. Stuart for providing this most completely equipped institution. If I were a resident of your city, I would count it a great privilege to have such a place to carry my patients for operation and after treatment, and I would count myself as especially fortunate in having such a place to treat my "typhoid" patients. I could hardly conceive of a more fortunate environment for such patients.

I appreciate that your institution is just in its infancy of usefulness and that it will require time to educate the public and the physicians to a proper appreciation of what it means to your city and county. The location is ideal, and when the plans contemplated are perfected, it will be one of the most beautiful plants in Kentucky. "I would that the magician's wand were granted me to weave a fitting legend" around the picture of the appreciated wife, and that of the beloved donor, as I beheld them as they hang in the institution of their joint making, for no doubt the wife, in whose memory the institution was built, was a great factor in the accumulation of the wealth that went in to its architectural beauty. It would be hard to decide which is entitled to most honor "the appreciated wife or the appreciative husband."

As I visited the various rooms and wards, fitted out by your private citizens, churches and lodges, I said, "surely this is a great people, contributing to a great work." May the Lord bless your directorship, your medical staff, your splendid superintendent, with her assistants, and may others add to the donations of Dr. Stuart, until you and your co-workers can say "It is enough; stay the hand of giving, until we need your help."

Sincerely yours,

J. W. CRENSHAW,

Cadiz, Ky.

The tobacco market is rapidly nearing the season's end. This week 260,000 pounds of tag ends were sold at prices so low that the average fell under $6. It is not believed that the season will run more than two weeks longer. The market ought to close now, but the sales will continue until they quit for lack of business. Next year it is probable that there will be a time fixed to close as in other markets. The sales being made are injuring the market.

HOW LONG A SOLDIER LIVES

Has Better Chance in War Than
When Following a Civilian Occupation.

According to Edward Bunnell Phelps, editor of the American Underwriter, a soldier has a better chance of living through a year of the war than a civilian has when pursuing his ordinary occupation. Thus, he says the percentages show that a soldier will excel the civilian in chances that if he is twenty-five he will reach thirty-six; if he is thirty, to reach forty-one; if he is thirty-five, to reach forty-five; if he is forty, to reach forty-nine; if he is forty-five, to reach fifty-two; if he is fifty, to reach fifty-six; if he is fifty-five, to reach sixty; or if he is sixty, to reach sixty-three.

Mr. Phelps has made elaborate mortality tables showing these conclusions, based on an estimated death list of 540,000 out of 6,000,000 engaged during the first year of the war. However, this estimate of deaths is based on the rates of the Union army during the Civil war, the German army in the Franco-Prussian war, the British army in the Boer war, and the Japanese army in the Manchurian war.

Supply of Oil Assured.

An oil bed in northern Alberta, Canada, is estimated by a British geologist to contain enough oil to satisfy the world's demand at the existing rate for some two thousand years.

HOW WOMEN AVOID OPERATIONS

By Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

pained me so for several years that I expected to have to undergo an operation, but the first bottle I took of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound relieved me of the pains in my side and I continued its use until I became regular and free from pains. I had asked several doctors if there was anything I could take to help me and they said there was nothing that they knew of. I am thankful for such a good medicine and will always give it the highest praise."—Mrs. C. H. GRIFFITH, 1568 Constant St., Cleveland, Ohio.

Hanover, Pa.—"I suffered from female trouble and the pains were so bad at times that I could not sit down. The doctor advised a severe operation but my husband got me Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I experienced great relief in a short time. Now I feel like a new person and can do a hard day's work and not mind it. What joy and happiness it is to be well once more. I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Compound."—Mrs. ADA WILT, 303 Walnut St., Hanover, Pa.

If there are any complications you do not understand write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Lightning and Apoplexy.

Bowling Green, Ky., June 18.—Daniel Boone Elkin, a farmer and strawberry grower, died suddenly of apoplexy while picking berries at Plum Springs. He was born at Plum Springs July 24, 1867. He was an elder in the Mt. Olivet Presbyterian church. He is survived by his wife, father, J. B. M. Elkin, and two brothers, James Elkin, secretary and member of the board of directors of the Warren County Strawberry association, and Henry Elkin. He was struck by lightning a week ago, and since has been suffering with headaches.

What is Truth.

Everybody claims to want the truth. No man is so base or so cowardly as to want anything else. Pilate's question: "What is truth?" has never been fully answered. It is not fact, it is not objective intelligence, it is not the evidence of the senses. These are mere phases or incidents of truth. They may all be false. Truth is not from the outside. It is not material. It is spiritual. It is the kindness of a deed and the nobility of an inspiration. This is the only truth in the world. It makes no difference what the teacher, the preacher, the editor, the lecturer says, the only truth in the world is the act of the loving and beautiful soul. The Bible says, "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he." That is his spirit, as expressed in his conduct. Every man who builds his life on that idea is a forerunner of the millennium.—Ohio State Journal.

Too True.

FARM ANIMALS

PROPER CARE OF BROOD SOW

Animal Is Often Neglected Before and After She Is Bred—Furnish Her With Separate Pen.

The care of the brood sow is too many times neglected before and after she is bred. Many times they are kept in the same lot with the fattening hogs, which is a sad mistake and almost sure to result in a weak bunch of pigs. Good care at this time means much towards a good crop of strong, healthy pigs.

In the first place the sows should have a separate lot from the rest of the hogs, and it should be large enough so they get plenty of exercise. If they do not take plenty of exercise, they should be urged to do so either by driving them daily or by having their sleeping quarters and their feeding place some distance apart.

Another good plan, if a person has his farm fenced hog tight, is to let the sows have the run of the farm. They will wander around quite a little if the weather is nice, and pick up a good deal of their living.

Another important part at this time is the feed. Their feed should be of rather a bulky ration. Corn should be fed moderately along with alfalfa hay, some mill feeds, and a small quantity of oil meal or tankage. The sows should be kept gaining slowly from the time they are bred till farrowing time, and care should be taken that the feeds are not too fattening.

A week or so before farrowing time, each sow should be shut by herself and watched closely. Her feed should be reduced a little.

If this plan were followed more closely, the average of the pig crop would be somewhat larger.

SHEEP AND SOIL FERTILITY

Everything Possible Should Be Done to Bring Ewes to Vigorous Condition at Mating Period.

As the country ages and the fertility of its fields becomes exhausted its appreciation of the sheep will increase. Early maturity is an important quality to consider in selecting sheep.

Whether you are keeping sheep for pleasure or profit, your desires will be more fully met if your flock is of superior quality. A strong sheep does not necessarily have to mean a large one; in fact, a majority of the strongest sheep are medium in size.

Every sheep owner should keep a purebred ram, but every man is not qualified to keep purebred stock. Everything possible should be done to bring the ewes to a vigorous, flesh-forming condition at the mating period. Sheep are excellent farm cleaners, weed killers and fertilizers.

The man who desires large profits from his flock should afford it the best that good management will produce.

BREEDING CRATE FOR SWINE

Stout Frame Made of Two by Four Stuff, Closed in Front and Open Behind, Is Useful Device.

In answer to a query for an illustration and description of a breeding crate for hogs, one is taken from "Swine in America," by Coburn, and is given herewith:

"It is a stout frame made, say, of two by four inch stuff, closed in front

A Breeding Crate.

and open behind, with a bar adjusted to slip behind the sow above the hocks, and a two by four inch strip attached to the forward end of the crate on either side at about where the sow's head comes, and extending to the rear and bottom where it is fastened. These strips are for the sow's forward feet to rest upon and hold his weight off the sow. A very good size for such a crate is five and one-half or six feet in length, two feet four inches in width, and three feet high. Cleats can be nailed crosswise of the crate floor to prevent the sow's slipping. When necessary, in breeding a small boar to a large sow, a raised platform for his hind feet, such as the illustration shows, can be produced."

THE OAK'S MESSAGE

By DONALD ALLEN.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

Miss Irene's Aunt Cynthia lived on and ran a farm. She was a hard worker and a strong-minded woman, and she had married almost without love, and certainly without romance. Her neighbors said she was hard-hearted and a driver, and seemed utterly without pity, but they were mistaken. She had loved her brother John, and when his only child drove up to the gate she took her in her arms and said: "You poor child, you, but you shall have a home with me for life, and I will be a kind mother to you!"

The lapse of time is the remedy for all our griefs. After three months had passed Miss Irene was like her old self again, and there was song and laughter in the house.

A quarter of a mile below Aunt Cynthia's farmhouse, and near the highway, was a giant oak tree. The farmers spoke of it as the old oak tree, and it was a landmark to be seen for miles and miles.

Miss Irene had sat and gazed at that towering tree for an hour at a time, but it had never occurred to her to make a closer acquaintance until one afternoon when she had a reply to indite to the letter of a girl chum. She would do her writing at the foot of the old oak tree.

As the girl drew nearer and nearer to the old oak the more it appealed to her, and when at last she reached it she stood with awe in her heart. More than a hundred years they said, and it had been buffeted by hundreds of gales.

"Chatter! Chatter! Chatter!"

It was a gray squirrel up the trunk a few feet and looking at the girl, defying her to come nearer.

"But I will!" she laughed, as she plunged into the bushes.

The squirrel whisked around to the other side of the tree.

By this time she had reached the trunk and passed around it the squirrel had made his way to the highest limb. The girl found something else, however—something that perhaps not one in a thousand who passed it had knowledge of. At the height of her chin was a cup or hollow that would hold a quart of water. It was a wound that the tree had received in some way years before, and the bark had grown again on all sides to leave a hiding spot. The hand that was thrust in felt and drew out a small quantity of dead leaves, but it was too low down for safety, and no wild thing had pre-empted it for a nest.

"Why, it might be turned into a post office!" mused the girl.

And instead of writing to her girl chum she wrote: "A maiden who lives near here is waiting for her Sir Knight to come and bear her away." "There!" was half defiantly exclaimed as the note was deposited in the cup.

As Miss Irene got up to wander through the woods a hawk and go home, the squirrel descended a few feet and seemed to call out:

"Silly! Silly! Silly!"

"Of course it is," said the girl in reply, "and I'll come back tomorrow and tear it up. There are no Sir Knights any more."

Next day Miss Irene went back to the old oak and took her note from the post office and read it with a sigh and a blush. Two or three times she started to tear it up, but held her hand and finally restored it to the cup.

And days and weeks and months passed away, and the girl did not return to the old oak tree. She tried to content herself with looking at it from a distance. It was a young girl romance, and she had a right to keep it locked in her breast.

One afternoon the gray squirrel was chattering away as he cut circles around the trunk of the old oak. There was nothing to make him afraid. There was no other gray squirrel in the woods to dispute his right to the tree, as had been decided by battle.

"Chatter! chatter! chatter!"

A young man was passing in an auto.

"Stop a minute," he said to his chauffeur. "By George! that's a fine old tree! And that's the first squirrel I've seen for years. I'd sure like his head for an ornament."

He had a pistol in his pocket, and he drew it and approached the tree. He was led around it as another had been.

"Hello! Here is the old fellow's nest! I wonder if any of the family is at home."

Very cautiously a hand was inserted. There might be teeth there awaiting it. No, there were only a few acorns and a bit of paper.

"A maiden who lives near here—" The young man walked back to the road and stood looking at Aunt Cynthia's house a long time. Finally he said to the chauffeur:

"We will go back to that house."

And from between the morning glories climbing over the lattice of the veranda Miss Irene peered out and saw him and knew that her Sir Knight had found her appeal and had come to answer it.

Satisfaction in Work.

All thinking men and women get the main satisfactions of life, aside from the domestic joys, out of the productive work they do.—Charles W. Elliot.

DAIRY

WORST FOE TO GOOD HEALTH

Constipation Is Starting Point of Many Serious Ailments That Affect Dairy Cattle.

(By G. W. BARNES, Live Stock Specialist, Arizona Experiment Station.)

Constipation is one of the worst foes to good health in cows and to the pocketbook of the dairyman. It is the starting point of many serious ailments that affect dairy cattle. It causes the other organs to be overtaxed to throw off the accumulations of waste that should pass through the bowels.

Constipation causes the cow to have fever which makes such a case really more serious. There is also a marked decrease in the milk flow, and often this is the first symptom that the farmer notices. The farmer or attendant should keep his eyes open and so feed as to maintain a normal state of health.

The genuine live-stock man will know his individuals so well that he can tell at once if a single animal gets off feed. The best treatment is to remove the cause which gives rise to it. The main cause is usually from feeding too long on nothing but dry bulk foods. Flaxseed or linseed is a good laxative. If constipation has lasted long, repeated small doses of purgatives are better than a single large dose.

FINDING QUALITY OF BUTTER

Principal Factors to Be Considered Are Flavor, Texture, Salt and Appearance of Package.

The principal factors that are considered in determining the quality of butter are:

Flavor, texture, color, salt, general appearance of package.

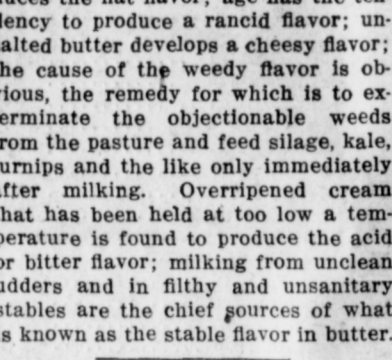

To a few people all butter is very much alike. To the cultivated taste and the experienced judge there are a great many flavors found in butter, prominent among which are the following: Flat, rancid, cheesy, weedy, acid and stable flavors.

Churning the unripened cream produces the flat flavor; age has the tendency to produce a rancid flavor; unsalted butter develops a cheesy flavor; the cause of the weedy flavor is obvious, the remedy for which is to exterminate the objectionable weeds from the pasture and feed silage, kale, turnips and the like only immediately after milking. Overripened cream that has been held at too low a temperature is found to produce the acid or bitter flavor; milking from unclean udders and in filthy and unsanitary stables are the chief sources of what is known as the stable flavor in butter.

MILK CAN AS REFRIGERATOR

Use in Temperature of But 18 Degrees in 24 Hours Noted in Milk Carried in New Device.

A new way of shipping milk and cream for long distances during the heated season is offered by the invention of a refrigerator milk can which is simply two cans, one within the other, the space between being filled with baked cork and hair felt. In severe tests, under practical road conditions, milk shipped in these cans showed a rise in temperature of but 18 degrees in 24 hours, when exposed to a continuous temperature of 92 degrees. A special form of neck is provided, the inner portion being a segment of a sphere over which the bowl of the cover fits closely, so that the can is perfectly tight, even if the cover be tilted to one side or the other.—Popular Mechanics.

Refrigerator Milk Can.

Refrigerator Milk Can.

No Two Cows Alike. No two cows are just alike. For that reason we must study them all separately and see what each one needs. The cow that is now giving milk will use more grain to advantage than one that has not yet begun the season's work. She is putting some of this grain in the pail and some into her own body. To get her up to the best possible condition, we need to give her a generous ration of flesh and fat-making material.

Cow Is Often Neglected.

The trouble with the majority of farmers is they do not give time for the attentions that bring out the best qualities in the individual. No dairy cow, however good, will be profitable unless given the right care and it is good money to the farmer to see that her development is looked after, and that she is given good shelter and food.

GREAT OVATION ACCORDED STANLEY AT COVINGTON

Rousing Rally of Kentucky Democrats At Monster Mass Meeting—Candidate for Governor Indorses County Unit Law and Lauds President Wilson

Covington, Ky.—Indorsement of the county unit law was given and a plea that the temperance question not be made a partisan issue were keynotes of an address by Congressman A. O. Stanley, of Henderson, Ky., of the Second Kentucky Congressional district, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor of Kentucky, before an enthusiastic audience at the Colonial Theater in Covington, Ky.

The big playhouse was packed. Representative Democrats were present from Kenton and Campbell counties and other parts of the state. The Newport delegation, 800 strong, led by a band, was received with cheers by the Kenton county men.

When Mr. Stanley appeared on the stage he was given an ovation lasting several minutes. Congressman Arthur B. Rouse introduced the speaker, paying a tribute to his work in Congress.

Pointing to former Congressman Joseph L. Rhinock, who was in a front seat, Congressman Stanley said in opening, "You remember when we were in Congress when the Republicans were in power and how we sat around while they enjoyed the clover." This caused a ripple of laughter.

Discusses His Defeat.

Referring to his defeat for the Senatorial nomination he said: "No man ever saw me sulk or whine or whimper for a second. In the closing days of the campaign I made, in behalf of the gentleman who defeated me, more speeches than he made for himself."

Continuing he said in part:

"At this hour the spirit of faction is dead. The people, without regard to party, inspired by a profound and all-embracing impulse of patriotic devotion to the country and the flag, stand in solid phalanx behind the courageous and manly man who at this crucial hour dominates the destiny of America."

"Did I say all? No, not so. There is one little malevolent band who even at this hour of peril, at this time when our great President rises tower-like to the accomplishment of the mighty task which confronts him, that flaunts in his face the black flag of defiance and insurrection. They are not so much a party as a coterie of political conspirators, led by Caleb Powers, Edward O'Rear, Dr. Palmer and Hon. H. V. McChesney. This political organization, with which they are identified, is known as the Anti-Saloon League."

"This organization can, if it chooses, give Judge O'Rear more than a million good reasons for his present hamstringing expedition into Democratic strongholds. But there are others in whom it is interested."

Quotes the Platform.

"The platform upon which I stand, the platform upon which every Democrat who refuses to bolt must stand until a new platform is written, explicitly declares: 'Temperance is essentially a moral, non-political and social question, and should not be made a partisan issue between political parties. We favor the extension of the present local option law, as applied to the sale of liquors, which has been upheld by our highest court as valid and constitutional, so that the citizens of each and every county in the state may determine for themselves whether spirituous, vinous and malt liquors may be sold therein.'

"Now these same gentlemen, who in 1911 declared that the county unit law provided a full and ample remedy for solution of this question, change their positions, and refuse to permit any county to act in this matter for itself. Now they stoutly assert that the cause of temperance can only be subserved by bolting the platform, by declaring that these same counties shall not have the right of determining this matter for themselves."

"The Democratic party in Kentucky at this last convention declared its intention of eliminating this one issue 'from politics.' By his declaration at Winchester Mr. McChesney refuses pointblank to be bound by a plain platform declaration which he a few months ago unequivocally indorsed, and which his political conferees claim to have written."

"Saint Edward O'Rear."

"There is another gentleman engaged in this better-I-am-than-thou party, one Saint Edward O'Rear, who journeyed all the way down to that Gibraltar of Democracy, Graves county, and posed before the good Christian people of Mayfield as something more pious and pure than our President and his party. He advised Democrats to forget their allegiance to the faith of their fathers and vote for a dry Republican if they couldn't get a dry Democrat to suit them. A short time ago Dr. Palmer wrote a circular letter advising the Democracy of the Eleventh district to vote for Caleb Powers for the same reason. Of course, the doctor knew he was all right on prohibition."

"It is necessary then, as now, of course, that this eminent gentleman should secure the sinews of war. But this pious soul revolted at the thought that one dirty dollar should ever see from that obscene source called a still into his pure little prohibition flank, and for that reason he selected one who, he had every reason to believe, knew these ruthless and wicked depredators of the home and of the youth, and would see to it that none of the mammon of unrighteousness ever reached his pious pockets.

"On September 6, 1911, Hon. John W. McCulloch, chairman of Judge O'Rear's Finance Committee, indited the following notice, among others, to the Republican distillers and barkeepers in Kentucky. I suppose it was intended to warn them of the impropriety of contributing to the campaign of their ancient and inveterate foe. Be that as it may, the letter in part is as follows:

Asks For Contributions.

"To make an effective organization requires money for purposes that are obvious and legitimate. Won't you please practice some self-denial for a couple of months, add that to your usual campaign contributions and send me a check by return mail? Every dollar you contribute may mean a vote in November. Now, don't put this off, for it is all-important that the funds be in hand to cover the campaign expenses, and it depends upon our contributions for the vigorous prosecution of this work. Awaiting the favor of your immediate reply, I am, yours sincerely, J. W. McCulloch, Finance Committee."

"The people of Kentucky are united on two things. First, their advocacy of the greatest president since Jefferson, Woodrow Wilson, and second, for a bigger and better Kentucky, a more progressive Kentucky, a more highly developed Kentucky; better roads, bringing the home and the school and church, the mill and the market into closer and nearer contact. They demand the development of our vast and undeveloped resources, the payment of a deficit of two millions—a discredit to Democracy and a burden to the state. Honest, fearless, patriotic men, free from the contaminating control of corrupt influences, the inveterate foes of graft and of every form of corrupt government, the champions of the plain people—that is what Kentucky demands, and that Kentucky shall receive from her servants. And it is to escape this issue that Hon. H. V. McChesney raises the bogey of state-wide prohibition at this time."

After the meeting Mr. Stanley was met by prominent men, among them being Justus Goebel, brother of the late governor.

Those occupying box seats were J. A. Thompson and G. W. Hancock, of Augusta; L. M. Brothers, sheriff of Bracken county; Judge Settle, of Owenton; J. S. Thornton, of Elliston; Walter Wilhoit, Isaac Wolf and J. W. Ayre, of Owen county; Dr. Chipman, of Falmouth; Scott Moore, of Sparta; L. L. Westover, of Williamstown, and J. G. Systematic Saving for Charity.

Some time ago I began systematically setting aside my tithes, and found the plan so helpful that I wish to urge it upon those other persons who conscientiously try to give the Lord his due in worldly goods as well as in service. Whatever money comes to me for my personal use I divide, and set apart one-tenth. Then if demand arises for any benevolent purpose it finds me going to my tithe-box to see what its contents are. I always know what I can afford, and I find that I feel much freer to give now that I have this sum regularly devoted to the one purpose.—Good Housekeeping Magazine.

TO INCREASE TOMATO YIELD

Maine Station Reports Gain of 50 Per Cent by Practice—Others Report Fruit Rotted.

(By S. M. CLINTON.)

We have never been able to increase the yield of tomatoes or improve the quality by trimming, although some experimenters, among them the Maine station, assert that trimming is an improvement.

The Maine station reports that the increase in the yield due to trimming reached as high as 50 per cent and the gain in weight was very marked.
The plants were started in the field
June 1, headed back July 24, August 8 and September 5. This work should be done earlier in the milder climates.

At each trimming the leading branches were shortened about six inches and most of the side shoots below the first clusters were removed.

The other clusters were shortened and by training the vines on wires to run from five to ten feet high, the sunlight was admitted to all parts of the plants.

In our own experiments we have found that when the vines were freely trimmed the fruit rotted to a considerable extent and did not ripen as quickly nor as evenly as when the vines were untrimmed in the same garden. In fact, three years ago we trimmed every other hill, training them on stakes with cross pieces, and allowed the other vines to go untrimmed, held in place only by a single frame, inclosing the plants on all sides, about eighteen inches high.

That year we found the ripest and best fruit on the untrimmed vines, while that on the trimmed vines ripened unevenly and showed a decided tendency to rot.

That was a dry season with us, and it may be that the trimmed vines received too much hot sun. Another thing noticeable was that the flavor of the tomatoes on the untrimmed vines was better and the fruit firmer than that on the trimmed vines.

AUTOMATIC BRAKE ON WAGON

Device Is Applied When Vehicle Starts

to put on the brake, or their wagons may be so loaded that they cannot get to the brake rod to throw it into place, says the Farming Business. Here is

ons. It was invented by an Alabama man, and the patent office has recently granted a patent for it. The brake is automatically applied when the wagon starts to move forward without draft from the team that is hitched, and when the bottom of the incline is reached and the forward movement of the wagon without hitch pull stops,
the brake automatically releases again.
Note the slot in the tongue of the wagon where the double-trees are pinned and the automatic arrangement at once becomes clear to one studying the sketch.

IMPORTANCE OF CULTIVATION

When Work in Garden Is to Be Done
By Horse Rows Should Be Long and Narrow.

An important consideration in planning the garden is the kind of cultivation to be given. Horse cultivation is recommended whenever possible, and where the work is to be done mainly by means of horse tools the garden should be long and narrow with the rows running the long way.
The garden should have no paths across the rows, but turning spaces should be left at the ends. For hand cultivation the rows can be much closer together, and may run across the garden. In the suggested plan, where the distance between the rows is less than two feet, hand cultivation with a wheel hoe is contemplated. If a hand cultivator or wheel hoe is not available, the rows should be at least two feet apart to give sufficient space for the horse cultivator. Straight lines should be followed, no matter what method of culture is used.

HOGS NEED CLEAN QUARTERS

Many Ailments of Animals Due to Sleeping in Warm Houses, Then Feeding in Cold Places.

(By WALTER B. LEUTZ.)

Cough among the hogs may be due to very dusty quarters. With young hogs it is frequently due to minute threadlike worms in the bronchial tubes. A soft, hacking cough is a very common symptom of hog cholera.

Hogs also have the common forms of bronchitis and pneumonia, just like other animals, and people.

With hogs, coughs and lung troubles, aside from cholera are frequently due to sleeping in warm quarters, possibly

Old Lady's Sage Advice.

Knoxville, Tenn. — Mrs. Mamie Towe, of 102 West Main Street, this city, says: "If you had seen me before I began to take Cardui, you would not think I was the same person. Six doctors failed to do me any good and my friends thought I would die. I could hardly get out of bed or walk a step. At last an old lady advised me to take Cardui, and now I can go most anywhere." All ailing women need Cardui, as a gentle, refreshing tonic, especially adapted to their peculiar ailments. It is a reliable, vegetable remedy, successfully used for over 50 years. You ought to try it. — Advertisement.

Wanted Information.

Little Margaret was bright and her proud parents accorded her the privilege of answering the phone when it rang. Margaret answered the phone one day and was asked by the party

her big brother Will to the phone.
Margaret knew that Will was sleep-

"Is it anything very particu-lar?"

Unusual Offer To Our Readers.

HOME THAT IS TRULY HOME

the Art of
Its Creation is Wholly Woman, and Really
Life's Best Work.

A home is not merely a house, it is an atmosphere; it is a place of loved associations, where you can wear old clothes, and think old thoughts, and hear familiar voices without hearing them. You can be happy there, and be comfortably unhappy, be thoroughly unpleasant
even, and know that those you love will think no worse of you than they do already. Luxury cannot make a home, nor can books, or pictures, or rugs, or bric-a-brac. A cat, a canary, two geraniums, a Bible and an old rocking chair may make one of the loveliest homes in the world. At the same time a home is not necessarily happy because it is the house of poverty, as some would have us believe.

The art of creating home atmosphere is wholly the art of woman,
and she has none more charming.
Mere care will not do it, or mere neatness and tidiness; indeed those things sometimes work the other way.
The love of prettiness will not do it; good cooking will not do it, although it is a mighty help. Even being gay and merry, and kindly yourself is not quite enough, although it helps even more than the cooking. Success in homemaking, as in everything else, requires that you shall feel a real joy in your work. If it is a drag, if it is an irksome duty, if your mind is on a thousand outside things that are not home, you cannot make home what it should be. Not that the homemaker should think of nothing else.
That is neither desirable nor possible.
But the woman whose first pleasure is to create that beautiful thing, home, will be a precious and permanent influence not only to her own family, but to all her household, to all her guests, to the whole community in which she lives.—Youth's Companion.

HOW TO COOK VEGETABLES

To Attain Best Results, These Worth-While Observances Should Be Kept Strictly in Mind.

1. Use the freshest vegetables that can be procured.
2. All fresh green vegetables should be placed in boiling salted water.
3. All dried vegetables, such as beans, haricots, lentils, etc., should be placed in lukewarm water.
4. The use of plenty of water in the cooking of all sorts of cabbage and sprouts is not only preservative of color; it is also advantageous in reducing the disagreeable smell which cabbage water always has.
5. Never allow vegetables of any kind to remain soaking in the water in which they were boiled; drain them at once when they are cooked.
6. It is waste of money to buy old, dried vegetables, and a waste of time
to try to cook them.

Jelly Jumbles.

One-half cupful butter, one cupful sugar, one egg, one-half teaspoonful soda, one-half cupful sour milk, one-quarter teaspoonful salt, flour, currant jelly. Cream the butter, add sugar gradually, egg well beaten, soda mixed with milk, salt and flour to make a soft dough. Chill and shape, using a round cutter. On the center of one-half the pieces put currant jelly. Make these small openings in remaining halves, using a thimble, and put pieces together. Press edges slightly and bake in a rather hot oven, that jumbles may keep in good shape.

Vegetable Ragout.

Put one cupful each sliced turnips,
potatoes and carrots into boiling water. Cook till tender. Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter in another pan, stir into it one-half cupful of minced onion and fry brown. Add two tablespoonfuls browned flour and gradually one pint of hot water. When smooth turn contents of saucepan into it, season to taste with salt and pepper, cook slowly 30 minutes, dish and serve. Just before sending to table sprinkle a tablespoonful of minced parsley over.

Sour Cream Cookies.

One egg beaten light, one heaping cupful sugar, one-half teaspoonful soda in one cupful sour cream, one-half cupful butter, and flavoring, and pastry flour to roll. Cream butter and sugar, add egg and the cream and whatever flavoring you prefer, then flour enough so you can roll. Moisten top of cookies with little milk and beaten yolk of egg.
This makes them look nice, but may be omitted.

Chocolate Caramels.

One-half pound of chocolate, one cupful of molasses, one-half cupful of butter, two-cupfuls of sugar, one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of vanilla.
Boil the chocolate, sugar, molasses, milk and butter for fifteen or twenty minutes, then add the vanilla before taking it from the fire. Pour into buttered pans, and when nearly cold cut into squares.

Old-Fashioned Lemon Pie.

Four lemons, chop the rind fine,
then add the juice of the lemons, one quart of molasses, one pound raisins, chopped. Use three crusts, makes three pies. Bake in an old-fashioned brick oven, if you can.

Good to Try.

When the oil stove even bakes too quickly on the bottom, as is generally the case, you can make it bake evenly by placing a piece of asbestos the size of your pan on the bottom of the oven.

FARM STOCK

GET RID OF DELICATE HORSE

Farmer Should Dispose of Ailing Animal at Once and Save Much Time, Trouble and Expense.

(By J. M. BELL.)
I know of nothing more trouble some on the farm than the "delicate horse." In the first place the ordinary farmer is not a veterinarian in any sense; therefore, when he is unfortunate enough to own a horse that is subject to spells of sickness, he really does not know what to do, and if this same horse is an animal whose value ranges anywhere from $50 to $100, the owner is loath to send off for a regular veterinarian and pay him for his visit and prescription, consequently the horse in question is very apt to die. I have had some experience in the past few months with a delicate horse, and this experience may be of value to some reader.

Standard Bred at Government Remount Depot.

The horse in question was and is a good one in many ways. "City broke" (that is, fearless), when it comes to the many things that are very liable to frighten a horse these days.

Automobiles, steam cars, bicycles and the like do not even interest him. He will meet any of these horse-terrifying affairs with utmost indifference.

When I first purchased him he was low down in flesh and really looked depressed and sad.

Having had about thirty years' experience in the handling of horses and mules of all sorts, I naturally thought that I could take this specimen to my farm and make something of him.

I bought him over three months ago and have fed him on what is considered by good horsemen to be first-class feed. At the present writing I can only say that my experience and the advice of my neighbors are at fault, for the horse still remains poor and apparently out of condition.

He has had two attacks of sickness in the past month and with no excuse so far as the writer can see. First a bad cold that kept him half sick for over two months, then a severe attack of indigestion, which lasted all day and well into the night, and was followed by a severe chill.

I would advise any farmer who is unfortunate enough to own a delicate horse to dispose of him at the earliest opportunity and thus save himself trouble and expense, for the ordinary farmer does not know what to do with an animal that is regularly subject to these spells of sickness, and even if he does know what to do, it does not pay to waste time on such an animal.

Laughter.

An old writer, John Bulwer, in his "Pathomyotomia" (1649), says: "But true laughter hath both the effects of the intellectual part as the principle upon which the dilatation of the heart and contraction of the countenance ensue, it being not only an affection of the body, but totius conjuncti of the whole man."

Mrs. Powell Almost Dead

Dry Ridge, Ky.—"I could hardly walk across the room," says Mrs. Lydia Powell, of Dry Ridge, "before I tried Cardui. I was so poorly I was almost dead. Now I can walk four miles and do my work with much more ease. I praise Cardui for my wonderful cure." Cardui is successful in benefiting sick women, because it is composed of ingredients, that act specifically on the womanly constitution, relieving headache, backache, irregularity, misery and distress. Only a good medicine could show such continual increase in popularity as Cardui has for the past 50 years. Try Cardui, the woman's tonic.—Advertisement.

Public Morality.

I have not the slightest regard for that statesmanship which is divorced from the morality which we say ought to guide us in our private life, which we gather for a nation as for individuals from the religion we profess. Time, persistent labor, fidelity to the great principles which we hold and believe in, will give us the victory over existing evils.—John Bright.

Fourth of July.

The Fourth of July is not a national holiday. There is no national holiday in this country, not even the day on which we declared our independence. There are several legal holidays, the Fourth of July being among them, but no national holiday.

Encourage Handsome Homes.

In order to encourage the erection of beautiful residences in Paris, the authorities award three gold medals annually to the designers of the most artistic dwellings. The owners of these homes are relieved of half of their annual taxes.

Paxtine

A soluble Antiseptic Powder to be dissolved in water as needed.

As a medicinal antiseptic for douches in treating catarrh, inflammation or ulceration of nose, throat, and that caused by feminine ills it has no equal. For ten years the Lydia E. DAIRY FACTS

ONE COMMON DAIRY MISTAKE

Some Farmers Turn Calf Out With Cow as Matter of Convenience—Effect is Generally Ruinous.

Many farmers who do not own hand cream separators, and several who do, frequently make a mistake in their management, of the cow and calf, where the calf is allowed to suck the cow.

We know of numerous instances in which some farmer, for some reason or other, turned the calf out with the cow. Sometimes this is done as a matter of convenience for a few days; or it may be done where one has so many cows to milk that they cannot be attended to properly. Again, if it is a young heifer's first calf, this is frequently done because she gives such a small quantity of milk that the farmer turns the calf out with her, expecting to take her up as a profitable cow at her next calving.

In any and all of these cases, the effect is generally ruinous. The cow grows accustomed to being with her calf, and if she is separated from it at weaning time, or even during the hour of milking, there is at once a falling off in the milk flow, caused by the change. In fact, such a dairy cow is almost sure to go entirely dry within a very short time after the calf is weaned or absent.

USEFUL LITTLE DAIRY HINTS

Waste of Time and Feed to Breed Scrubs—Provide Supply of Clean Water for the Calf.

Do not waste your time and feed on scrubs, as they take just as much feed and time and do not give as much in return, either in quality or quantity, as the pure-bred stock.

Do not feed calves hot milk.

Do not feed the calf cold milk. It causes scours.

Do not feed the calf sour milk.

Do not forget that the calf needs salt even when he is very young.

Do not forget to keep plenty of clean water for the calf to drink. It is better to warm it in cold weather.

Keep the calf in a clean, dry, warm place.

For warts or rough scaly patches on the calf, rub on a mixture of sulphur and lard twice a day.

For scours give castor oil, then break two or three eggs into a dish and beat them, put them in a bottle and give the calf as a drench, two or three times the first day or two. Also omit the calf's milk and grain for at least one feed, then feed him less than usual the next two or three feeds.

PLAN FOR GOOD VENTILATION

Arrangement Illustrated Shows How Air Can Be Admitted Between Sashes Without Draft.

It is possible to secure very good ventilation in any room in any part of the dairy house or barn by the following device: Take a board about six inches wide and just long enough to reach the exact width of the window. Place this below the lower sash, letting the sash rest upon it as shown in the figure. This arrangement will admit air between the sashes, upper and lower, and there will be no drafts. This suggestion is taken from Farmers' Bulletin 607.

Texture of Butter.

The texture of butter is dependent upon its grain, which is secured by its process of manufacture. Over-churning and too high temperature both injure the texture of butter.

Cow "Holds Up" Milk.

Once a cow is out of sympathy with the milker, the process of elaboration and concentration is retarded, and we are apt to say she "holds up" her milk.

Machinery of Cow.

The machinery of a cow, by means of which she produces milk, is as delicate as that of a watch, and yet we often act as though the contrary were true.

Using Milk Tube.

The regular use of a milking tube will remedy defects of a hard-milking cow, but do not have such a cow and you won't need the tube.

Harry Objected.

Harry, two years old, whose mother is a widow, protests vigorously when she goes out with any of her friends in the evening, as he is left at home with an aunt. One evening recently Harry was left to entertain a caller while his mother was putting on her hat. After a long silence Harry blurted out: "Have you a mamma?" The amazed friend said that he had, whereupon Harry said: "Well, why don't you take your own mamma out, then?"—Chicago Tribune.

Some Difference.

Floyd and Walter had just come home from school. Walter, the youngest, said to Floyd: "We got two dead birds in our room." Floyd replied: "That ain't nothing, we have lots of them. They ain't dead, them's stuffed."

How to Fish for Trout.

In the July Woman's Home Companion appears a practical article fishing—for the entertainment and instruction of boys. On the subject of trout fishing, the author of the article says in part:

"It is an art to cast for trout, for the line must go a long way from you, so the trout doesn't know you are near. It must be most artistically twist-d and moved, so that the fly seems to the fish to swim or to crawl upon the surface. That means a light rod. Then the trout, when he swallows the thing, darts away, and you have to 'play him' much as we play the bass, only more so. If you can't have but one fly rod, a five-ounce rod nine feet long is about right. If you can have two, have a longer one for fly fishing, and a short, stronger one for bait fishing.

The Simpler railway tunnel is about twelve miles long.

FIGHTING FOR LOVE

Dora's Bitter Scorn Waked the Brute in Her Peace-Loving Suitor.

By JOHN PHILIP ARTH.

(Copyright, 1915, by the McClure Newspaper Syndicate.)

As a boy among boys, Clyde Drew never engaged in battle. Not that he took to his heels every time there was a chance for a scrap, but that he was not naturally belligerent, and if there was a question at stake he was good at argument.

There were scrappers at college who called him the deacon and let him go his way in peace. He didn't row, box, run, jump, play football, swim or enter into athletics in any way. He had a good figure and more than the average amount of muscle lying dormant, and he also passed a high examination. When young Drew left college he took a clerical position, and all his exercise consisted in walking. Once a friend took hold of his arm and found it as soft as a woman's.

"Gee whiz! where is the muscle?" "I don't have to handle the crowbar or a sledge here," was the reply.

"But supposing someone picked a fight with you?"

"Why should anyone?"

"You may see some day. Maybe you carry a gun."

"No."

"Well, I'm not going around looking for trouble, but if there is need for scrapping I shall be on hand at the old stand."

The conversation made no impression on Mr. Drew. He could hardly conceive of a situation calling for muscle to get him out of trouble. He would insult no one, and no one would insult him.

Miss Dora Thorn and Mr. Clyde Drew were engaged to be married, and it was a real love match. Mr. Drew had many admirable qualities, and had some money and a good salary.

It had been love at first sight, and an engagement followed in a few weeks. Mr. Thorn did not object to the engagement, made without consulting him, but he said to the lovers:

"I think you have been over hasty. You know so little about each other that it's my wish that you should put the marriage off several months. When I was a young man I came very near rushing into a marriage that I should have repented the rest of my days."

And when the postponement had been

PURELY PERSONAL

Mr. Paul Twyman, of Hopkinsville, has arrived in Bowling Green to join his wife and little daughter, Louise, who are visiting Mrs. Twyman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Hughes, at their home on Thirteenth Street.—Bowling Green Messenger.

SHY ON MOTIVE POWER.

"Our new office boy isn't very energetic, is he?"

"No. About all he can do successfully is to drop letters down the chute."

THEY DIFFER.

Helen—When I grow up and get married I'm going to have a lot of children.

Mary—I'm not; I'm going to marry a bachelor.—Judge.

HE OR NONE.

"Did Maud Wellalong marry the man of her choice?"

"Well, I heard it was a case of Hobson's choice."

ONE REASON.

"Why is the moon supposed to be such a foolish luminary?"

"Because she puts off getting full until she's down to her last quarter."

CONSTANT SUPPLY.

"Don't you think it is a fine thing always to have hot water in the house?"

"Not if you're always in it."

AT THE SEASHORE.

"Are you going to wear your new bathing suit today, Mayme?"

"No, indeed; it looks too much like rain."

ITS NATURE.

"Who is expected to win at a tea fight?"

"How can anybody win when it's a drawn battle?"

"CURLEW BUG" IS A WIDESPREAD PEST

"Curlew Bug." A—Corn Plant Attacked by Adult Insect. B—Egg as Placed in Stem of Young Corn Plant, Enlarging at Left. C—Pupa and Adult in Root of Corn, in Chamber Eaten Out by the Larva.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

Rotation or alternation of crops is a simple and efficient method of getting rid of the "curlew bug," a widespread pest in corn and rice fields. "Don't plant corn after corn or rice, or rice after corn" is a useful maxim to remember in localities infested by the bug.

The curlew bug, which is one of the so-called "Snout Beetles" or curculios, about half an inch long, is particularly fond of swamps and marshes where it feeds on large-stemmed grasses and sedges. Of cultivated crops, corn and rice most closely resemble its natural food and in consequence the bug is a menace to these crops in almost every state in the South and in large sections of the middle West and Southwest as well. It cannot live on the small grains or on such plants as cotton or cowpeas. In consequence if infested fields are planted to oats, rye, barley, cotton or cowpeas, the curlew bug disappears at once.

In practice, cotton, cowpeas, or winter oats will probably be the best crops to use for this purpose in the South. In Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Missouri, southern Wisconsin and Arkansas, oats, rye, barley or cowpeas. After a year of one of these crops, the field can be planted again to corn. If the pest returns, a similar alternation should be resorted to once more.

The curlew bug will remain in an infested cornfield throughout the winter and, if the field is planted to corn again, come out in the spring to feed upon the young corn plants. By means of its long snout, at the end of which are situated the mouth and jaws, the beetle punctures the stem of the plant and thus either secures its food or deposits its eggs. Usually the puncture is made a little below the surface of the ground and extends into the crown of the plant. If the puncture is made just above the root, the plant will throw up a number of "tilers" and "suckers," while the main stem itself will be without ears and stalky in appearance. In this respect the work of the curlew bug produces somewhat the same effect as that of the Hessian fly on a young wheat plant in the fall. If the puncture is made higher up on the stem, food is obtained from the folded leaves above the crown. When these leaves finally push forth, the effect of the puncture made by the beetle's snout is revealed by rows of holes across the leaves. Frequently there will also be a distorted growth on the stem.

While the damage done by the beetles in feeding or laying their eggs is in many cases doubtless severe—if the corn plants are very young at the time of attack they are probably destroyed in this way—generally speaking the greatest damage is caused by the larvae hatching from the eggs, especially in the East. The grubs of this insect apparently can live without difficulty for a considerable length of time in the stems of plants that are completely covered by water.

With these insects in full possession of a field, there does not appear to be any thoroughly practical and effective measure for preventing or overcoming their ravages, which frequently result in a total loss of the crop. While throwing up the soil or hilling up the young plants with the cultivator might prevent the beetles themselves from puncturing the stems low enough down to cause the plants to sucker or become distorted, this is by no means assured. We only know that the higher up the insect punctures the stem the more likely is the attack to result only in the transverse rows of holes across the leaves. In any case this ridging or hilling up would only form a slight protection against the injurious effects of the feeding of the beetles. Once the larvae have started to burrow their way downward in the stem there is no way whereby they can be reached by any measure likely to seriously affect them.

Helps for Peach Growers to Control Insect Pests.

After a grower has pruned intelligently, tilled and fertilized his orchard well, and irrigated it if that has been required, the orchard may be short lived and the crops financial failures if he neglects to give proper attention to the control of the insects and diseases which habitually occur in his region. While it is true that there are some rather serious peach parasites which are regional in their occurrence and some of those which are widely disseminated remain unknown thus far in certain districts, it is likewise true that a considerable number of both insect pests and fungous diseases are to be found pretty nearly everywhere in the country in which peaches are grown.

Every fruit grower should be in close touch with the agricultural experiment station in his state, so that he can refer emergency matters there without delay. Not infrequently, the securing of information regarding the control of some insect pest that has become suddenly threatening or concerning the most effective means of checking the spread of a disease hitherto unknown results in saving what would otherwise be a serious loss.

Inquiries relating to any phase of fruit growing may also be referred at any time to the United States department of agriculture, where without cost, through the department's pathological, entomological, and other experts, as full information relative to the problems as can be given may be secured. The department's farmers' bulletin (No. 440) entitled, "Spraying Peaches for the Control of Brown Rot, Scab, and Curculio," will be sent to anyone requesting it. So also will farmers' bulletin (No. 632) entitled, "Growing Peaches," which treats in detail of pruning, renewal of tops, thinning, interplanted crops, and special practices.

CALF DURING FIRST SUMMER

Most Important Period of Animal's Life With Respect to Its Growth—Use Clean Milk Pails.

(By R. M. WASHBURN, Minnesota Experiment Station.)

The first year of a calf's life is the most important with respect to its growth. Unless animals are kept growing during this period their final development will be much retarded, and the chances are they never will reach the scale which their inheritance would give them.

On the best regulated dairy farms calves are born in the autumn and early winter, and they should receive skim milk in moderate quantities through much or all of the summer following birth. On farms having hand separators there is no difficulty in providing the sweet milk for calves, morning and evening; but farmers who patronize whole-milk creameries or who still skim by hand should remember that after the first few weeks milk for calves should either be thoroughly sweet or fully sour, that the most dangerous condition is the half-sour stage. If milk is fed to calves when it is in this changing condition it is almost certain to cause indigestion. It should not be half-sour, nor sour one day and sweet the next, but always one or the other.

Clean feeding pails must be used, otherwise the germs of fermentation and diarrhea will be brought to the infant cow from the slime of the dirty drinking dish, and with young calves it is important that the temperature at which the milk is fed be nearly that of the body. Older animals may receive milk of the temperature of the milk-holding tank.

While it is very important that heifers should have free access to pasture during the second summer, to develop strong bodies, the calf need not have pasture the first summer. In fact, for calves born after the first of the year, pasturing may be a disadvantage. Most young calves in this country are better off chewing tender hay in the quiet and half-dark stable than fighting flies, panting from the heat and cropping tough grass in the pasture.

Pleasure and Profit.

There are many localities where orchards exist but where fruit production is not equal to the home consumption. Farmers owe it to themselves to change this condition and make their orchards a source of pleasure and profit. A little intelligent care will enable them to do so.

Best of Greens.

Young turnip, cabbage and bean plants make the best of greens. It is but a small job to plant these at different times, and they can be had all summer.

Louisville, Ky., June 18.—According to schedules filed in the United States district court Charles T. Dearing, bankrupt bookseller, has assets amounting to $143,179.03 and liabilities of $189,104.61. The assets of the Dearing Book Shoppe, an allied corporation involved in the bankruptcy proceedings, are listed at $40,975.23, with liabilities of $20,647.10.

Peat Bogs.

Peat is a vegetable formation, sometimes of a spongy character (when recent), and again of a kind approximating in composition to wood, while in some instances, at the bottom of bogs, it approaches lignite and even coal.

Gingham is so-called because it was originally manufactured at Guingamp, in Brittany.

Trusts Seem Safe.

Washington, June 15.—Department of Justice officials are considering, what if any steps they will take in view of the refusal of the supreme court to review the action of appeals in reversing the conviction of National Cash Register officials of violations of the Sherman law. Department officials regarded the case as the strongest that could be brought under the criminal section of the anti-trust law and failure to obtain a favorable decision was accepted as meaning that criminal prosecution under the law would almost surely fail.

Another Mule Tragedy.

Noah James, 46 years old, a colored man, working on the farm of W. C. Shropshire, near Lexington, was dragged several hundred yards by a team of runaway mules and received injuries which caused his death three hours later. James fell from the top of the wagon and caught his foot in the trace chains.

Washed Mouth With Soap.

An Indiana man is being sued for divorce because he washed out his wife's mouth with strong soap after she had cursed him. We are not enlightened as to whether the lady objected to the cleanliness imparted by the washing or the brand of soap used in the performance.—Bowling Green Messenger.

Fleischmann's Yeast

FREE! - - - - - FREE!

To all Housekeepers TO DAY. One of Hopkinsville's good housewives recently heard of Fleischmann's Yeast and gave it a trial—delighted—only begins to express what she thinks of it. ACCEPT ONE CAKE WITH OUR COMPLIMENTS. Try the following recipe, it will give splendid results.

WHITE BREAD

(FOR USE OVER NIGHT)

1 cake FLEISCHMANN'S YEAST

2 quarts water 2 tablespoonfuls lard or butter, melted,
6 quarts sifted flour, 2 tablespoonfuls sugar,
2 tablespoonfuls salt.

Dissolve yeast and sugar in the water, which should be lukewarm in winter and cool in summer; add two tablespoonfuls lard or butter, and half the flour. Beat until smooth, then add balance of the flour, or enough to make moderately firm dough, and lastly the salt. Knead until smooth and elastic. Place in well-greased bowl and cover. Set aside to rise over night, or about nine hours. In the morning mould into loaves. Fill well-greased pans half full, cover and let rise until light, or until loaves have doubled in bulk, which will be in about one and one-half hours. Bake forty to fifty minutes. This will make six large loaves.
